MER
MÉDITERRANÉE

This weekend in Camargue is composed of a day navigating on the canals and the other one discovering sea rowing. Both will make you believe in the local persistent summer because at this time of year winter clearly seems far away. You will start from the typical fishing harbour in Grau-du-Roi then row upriver the Vidourle to reach the beautiful wild landscapes of the region. You will navigate on the Rhône canal towards Sète until reaching the Carbonnière Tower, then you will row on the « Small canal » lined up with pines towards Aigues-Mortes and discover its amazing view on Constance tower and its fortifications. You will then go back to Grau-du-Roi, rowing along the salt marshes on Aigues-Mortes canal.
